Voluntary Action Coventry Awarded funding to Transform Volunteering in Coventry

Coventry City Council has awarded Voluntary Action Coventry £229k. The funding is from the UK Government's Shared Prosperity Fund which has been allocated to the city through the West Midlands Combined Authority

This much needed funding will further support the development of the social economy for the city. Awarded to Voluntary Action Coventry, the charity championing community resilience, the focus will be working in partnership to support economically inactive residents to participate in social action and to showcase volunteering opportunities and the achievements of the city's good causes.

There will be a series of exciting volunteering events across the city, where participants can come and try different volunteering activities to increase their confidence and well-being. There will be training, guidance and one to one support provided. We're sharing funds across the sector to give people a chance to find out about the amazing organisations in their area and the wide range of voluntary opportunities available.

Sue Ogle, CEO at Voluntary Action Coventry said:

Whether it's sprucing up a local park, serving refreshments at a local hospital, meeting and greeting the public or being handy at DIY, this is a great time to explore the possibilities."
